The Ocean Opal Home sits right on Utila's reef system, at the entrance to Dolphin Run. Out front, you don't need a boat — you literally walk down the steps and snorkel one of the best reefs on the island. That's what makes this house so special. It's a two-bedroom, two-bathroom oceanfront home with a wide seaside deck that runs the length of the house. Both bedrooms and the living room open straight out to the deck, so every space faces the sea. From here, you see divers in the water, boats going out every morning, and the Pico Bonito mountains rising on the mainland. And when you're ready for dinner or a night out, The Point restaurant is right next door, and town is only a few minutes away by golf cart or on foot. Inside, the layout is open and bright. The kitchen has granite countertops, a big island, and plenty of storage with custom Honduran pine cabinets. The prin...
